COLUMNS

Columns are the definition of strength and beauty. Whether they're used outdoors or as interior architectural accents, columns add grace to any home. The columns' classic looks are the result of proportionately pleasing contours best described by the Greek architectural term "entasis", which involves a slight taper to add balance and proportion.

Each stave is crafted from fingerjointed stock to increase stability. Tongue-and-groove joints interlock the staves to ensure superior structural integrity of the column. For weather durability, the staves are edge-glued under pressure using Type 1 exterior glue. Each column is detail sanded assuring a smooth, flawless surface that accepts stain or paint readily.
